* Modernity without westernization

↓
* Progress

tech / equality / rational thinking.

imitate western culture → individualism.

Simran's Dad → they are getting modern but not losing the (obsessive) culture

last scene: Centrality → father the patriarch inter cutting, Simran → side figure.

* father letting go of the woman

- acceptance of the patriarch to pass his daughters hand.

Masculinity → Kujee → toxic masc. [aggression]
↳ Raj → soft / emo. masc. [tears]

o In love everyone is involved (family)

* Analysis of the form.

Running of Simran → switching slow men.
↳ joyous [liberation] x

act of surrender to patriarchy.

* no; westernization if Simran would run away.

leaving village → modernity w/out westernization.

* Discipline v/s Desire.

Film as Popular Culture.

Impact → Idea of family ^(familial approval) acceptance. run through b.wad.
↳ establishing social order.

exam?

• film comparisons.

• larger impact of pop. cult. - (13/4/26) → make ref. to other films.

x Kapoor & Saw.

• unresolved family drama (dysfunctional)

o father $\rightarrow$ controlling, not a figure of authority.

o wife starting business is threatening to him.

o unusual from usual patriarch (towered fig, masculine)

$\rightarrow$ subverting from the usual idea of Bollywood films.

1) figure of father

film ending • fallability of a figure.

$\rightarrow$ subverts from usual tropes

o Set $\rightarrow$ ^{space} not that grandeur as Rocky & Rani or Karan Johar.

financial crisis, huge house $\rightarrow$ yet it is crumbling.
 $\hookrightarrow$ symbol of that space used to be grand but is now falling apart.

ms after song $\rightarrow$ conflict is again main focus (downhill) (subverting again)

→ the love triangle. → subverted by one of the brother is gay.
(as it is not the real conflict
• the real conflict is the brothers rift.
used to explore the self in brothers.

o Brothers are diff. masculinity.

Rahul → ideal, perfect son.

→ Karan Johar film → Rahul is main character.

BUT IS GAY!!

Rahul is "alpha"?! → but at last revealed to be gay

o Ending is generally conflict resolution. (expectation) family → acceptance / made peace with.

o more nuanced / realistic take.

→ messy collection of individuals → together

o female lead → more of side character hero & supporting heroine not here

traumatic past → shaped him

o have agency

o wants to try things out. before settling (willing to explore)

(no pre-conceived notion)

o complicated figures.

o Dad → not represented as they are ingeneral.
(mature when req.)

o Mother → DDLJ calm

↳ not have agency & ambitions here

Love (for everyone) between Dysfunctional family

- Realism [other → Melodrama]

conversations w family

- love is transactional. (family)

↳ do something to get loved. why?? (One kid is favored)

Maternal love $\rightarrow$ pre-conceived notion $\rightarrow$ unconditional love.
(w/-born)

glorifying → hard to hate.

→ mother → favors are children (transactional)

 one is wacky
 one is not.

{ method different than DOLJ

breaking point $\rightarrow$ Rahul comes out gay.

- o Mother → when closer thing

→ Mother makes it about herself.

- the sun till when he was the "perfect" was good but when betrayed she dgaf (act of cruelty)

- emotional betrayal.

* Rahul instead of feeling relieved he got crushed. bcoz the mother's exp., she makes it about herself.

→ the rivalry is created by their parents. (their expectation)

- love as comparison.

→ Arjun & Rahul story thing o

mother again not "pure", helped one son.

- 0 Love as transaction, between the husband & wife.

Why together? → divorce is hard (financial pragmatism)

again transactional.

Harsh (patriarch) - unable to fulfill his ^{socially} sanctioned roles.

- when he feels like failure.

lack of respect & love → infidelity (as man being challenged)

Sunita's resentment → she thought abt her own life

(her idea of success) → overeducated. hence resentment.

- channels to her son.

o stifled ambition of her mother.

- Grandfather → unconditional love. (he has little time left)
- Harsh died → lot of "transactional" end.

mother → can retrospect her selⁿ Setta.
